COVER THEIR EYES

These must-haves for kids will be unveiled at the annual Toy Fair tomorrow

By: Julian Kesner

The 2006 American International Toy Fair starts tomorrow at the Javits Center and outside showrooms, with more than 1,500 manufacturers unveiling the products your kids will pine for from now to the holidays. Here's a sneak peek at seven top toys coming to a store shelf near you.

MOST VERSATILE:

Land Sea RC (MGA Entertainment, $70)

The R/ C goes from a well-treaded ATV to a prop-powered boat at the touch of a button.

September.

MOST HANDS-ON

Lil' Luvables Fluffy Factory (Spin Master LTD., 3 & up, $24.99)

Why buy a teddy bear when your children can make their own? The hand-crank apparatus comes with three bear skins, stuffing, accessories and more. June.

WETTEST:

Shield Blaster Cruncher 5000 (Mattel, 5 & up, $24.99)

This pump-free water cannon features an automatic, flip-up protective shield to deflect opponent's sprays.

Available now.

PARENTS' FAVORITE:

Play TV Golden Tee Golf (Radica Games, 8 & up, $39.99)

Skip the crowded bar and play the cult arcade favorite on your home TV. It has the same trackball - just plug in, and roll away. Fall.

MOST DEVIOS:

Spy Video Car (Wild Planet, 8 & up, $99-$159)

The headset's LCD screen links up with a R/ C car that is fitted with an adjustable, infrared video camera; James Bond would approve.

September.
